

DESCRIPTION

The Terra Rainbow House is a unique element of the collection, featuring colorful walls made of plexiglass (acrylic glass). It is a cozy place for relaxation and observation of changing colorful lights. The transparent walls let sunlight through, creating beautiful, colorful light shadows, giving the house a magical and inspiring character. Children can experiment with light effects, learning about colors, shadows, and reflections. The Terra Rainbow House is not only an aesthetic addition to the garden but also a functional educational tool that supports children's development through play and discovery. The house's structure is made of natural, impregnated wood, ensuring durability and weather resistance. Constructi...
